

Drive them to buy.

Justin is a music fan. He buys several CDs a month and now he wants to have different ring back tones every month too. He opts for a subscription for five free tones per month for 24 months. Say your usual price is one dollar per tone, you can give him five for three dollars. He is happy and you now will have at least 72 dollars from him.

Content subscriptions are an excellent way to drive sales. They guarantee a certain revenue for you and they also encourage your subscribers to visit your storefronts and buy. By doing so, they will probably decide to buy even more than what their subscription covers.
